Introduction

This DIY Escape Room Module has been developed within the framework of the Inclusive Pathways to Peace \(IPP\) project, co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union. It serves as a practical complement to the Methodological Guide, together forming a complete toolkit for implementing educational escape rooms in youth work and non-formal education contexts. “Inclusive pathways to peace, 2024-2-HR01-KA220-YOU-000279458” is an Erasmus+ Cooperation Partnership in the field of youth, coordinated by Association Studio B (Croatia) with partners from Serbia (Udruženje Svetlost), Spain (ASOCIACIÓN JUVENIL ERASMIAU), and Cyprus (NEOLEA GIA ANTALAGI KAI KATANOISI– Youth for Exchange and Understanding). The project aims to promote peace, tolerance, and inclusion by developing innovative educational tools for youth and youth practitioners. Through participatory action research and creative game-based learning methods, partners are co-creating open educational resources — including interactive escape rooms enhanced with 360° and augmented reality elements — that support young people in building empathy, communication, and conflict resolution skills. By combining non-formal education and digital innovation, the project seeks to strengthen the quality of youth work and contribute to more cohesive, democratic, and peaceful communities across Europe.

While the Methodological Guide provides theoretical foundations, methodological principles, and detailed instructions for setting up and facilitating the activity, this DIY Module contains all the necessary elements to be printed, assembled, and used during implementation. These include puzzles, clues, visual elements, and other components designed to support experiential learning on the topics of peace, inclusion, and conflict resolution.

Used together, the Methodological Guide and the DIY Escape Room Module enable youth practitioners to create immersive, participatory, and educational experiences that foster collaboration, empathy, and critical thinking among young people.

How to use this module:

All elements in this module are marked with the letter “E” followed by a number (e.g., E1, E2, E3...). This numbering corresponds to the instructions provided in Chapter 1.5 How to Set Up the Room of the Methodological Guide and will help you correctly position each element within the escape room.

Please follow these guidelines when preparing the materials:

â Printing: Print all elements one-sided, using print settings set to “Fit to Page”, unless otherwise specified in the notes accompanying each element number.

â Cutting and preparation: Each page includes a header and footer containing the element number and project information. These sections should be cut off before use. Players should only see the element itself — not the numbering or any technical markings.

â Additional instructions: Next to some element numbers, you may find specific preparation notes such as “cut on marked lines,” “print on vellum paper,” or “fold in three parts.” Please follow these directions carefully.

If no specific instruction is provided, simply print the page and cut away the header, footer, and element number before using it in the escape room.

By following these steps, you will ensure the materials are prepared correctly, and the gameplay remains fully immersive for participants.

Welcome aboard time travellers.

The Council has hand-picked you for a mission. Something quite peculiar has happened & you have to act fast. The articles of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights have slipped out of history!

If the Universal Declaration of Human Rights isn't found, people might forget their rights. If people forget their rights, they can't defend them. If they can't defend their rights, I don't even want to think about the consequences.

You'll have to jump through recent decades, learn about different groups that have had different struggles. Some might be on very different paths than you. The articles are scattered among the different years, some might be in plain sight... for others, you might need to dig a little deeper!

Your mission is simple: Find the articles. Repair the declaration. Break the loop. Restore hope & resilience. Save humanity. Easy peasy.

As part of your travels, you will be visiting:

- journey 1: a grassroots organizations space in Amsterdam, Netherlands, 2001.
- journey 2: a 'lost and found' area in an airport in Germany, 2030.
- journey 3: an exhibition on 'Signs of conversation' in Budapest, Hungary in 2013.

THE LOOP

The most seen 6-colour rainbow flag (also referred to as the pride flag) was finalized in nineteen seventy nine, although the original design included 8 colours. The flag includes the colours red, orange, yellow, green, blue and purple; each symbolizing a different meaning. In the following years, different versions of the pride flag have been designed that include the trans flag as well as the integration of black and brown colours in recognition of people of colour.

THE LOOP

The most popular version of the trans flag was designed by American trans activist Monica Helms in nineteen ninety nine. It is commonly used during pride events and during the International Transgender Day of Visibility which raises awareness about the discrimination faced by trans people.

The Freddie Mercury Memorial Statue has been standing at the promenade at Montreaux, Switzerland since nineteen ninety-six. Freddie Mercury was the lead singer of the music band Queen, which is one of the most popular and well-known bands in music history with songs such as Show Must Go On and Bohemian Rhapsody. After his death, his bandmates established the Mercury Phoenix Trust which contributes to research, education and prevention of HIV/AIDS.

“Are you a friend of Dorothy?”

The question “Are you a friend of Dorothy?” is a reference to the film Wizard of Oz. Wizard of Oz is a musical fantasy film dating back to nineteen thirty nine, telling the story of Dorothy, a Scarecrow that needs a brain, a Tin Man missing a heart and a Cowardly Lion who set out the get the broom of the Wicked Witch of the West. The film is linked to the popular “Wicked” film series. The question was used by the queer community as a code about sexual orientation when it was dangerous to be open. Although it is no longer frequently used, it is mentioned as part of queer history.

Psychological Analysis: Unanswered Questions Remain in Apartment Death

BY DR. KAREN MITCHELL, Ph.D.
Clinical Psychologist

In the days since a man was found dead in his apartment earlier this week, what initially appeared to be a tragic yet straightforward case has become a matter of public speculation. Although authorities maintain that there is no evidence of foul play, several residents question whether the official explanation fully resolves the many lingering uncertainties.

Initial explanations of the recent apartment death have left many in the community feeling a lack of closure.

A LACK OF CLOSURE

Dr. Karen Mitchell
Clinical Psychologist

Initial explanations often presented with incongruent information, and commitment to leave equipment unresolved.

Perceived discrepancies, such as hearing loud arguments, lead to dissonance, anxiety, and mistrust. Addressing all questions is essential.

Cognitive Dissonance and Community Response

When presented information is inconsistent and complex, questions between official narratives and reported experiences arise.

INVESTIGATIVE STEPS NEEDED FOR RESOLUTION

1. Comprehensive Review of Witness Statements:

Ensure all witness reports are thoroughly reviewed and compared for consistency, including reports of raised voices at the time of the incident.

2. Transparent Forensic Reanalysis:

Allow independent forensic experts to reexamine any physical evidence to ensure a thorough and unbiased assessment.

Psychologically, it is crucial to address the unanswered questions surrounding this case with a level of thoroughness that restores public confidence. Anything less than a transparent and conclusive resolution will likely leave a sense of unease that could persist indefinitely.

DOCUMENTARY REVIEW

Title: Inconvenient Silence

Director: Hannah Whitmore

Release Date: April 19, 2024

SUMMARY

The crime documentary "Inconvenient Silence" examines the unexplained death of a man found dead in his apartment under circumstances officially described as non-criminal. Through interviews, archival footage, and analysis of police documentation, the film questions whether key details were overlooked or dismissed too early.

KEY INTERVIEWS

Daniel Reeves

Neighbor / Witness

Recounted hearing raised voices and movement late at night. Expressed concern that his statement was shortened and removed from later summaries.

Inspector Mark Holloway

Senior Investigator (Ret.)

Reviewed publicly available police reports and highlighted gaps between early conclusions and unresolved forensic questions.

Dr. Elaine Porter

Forensic Analyst

Provided expert commentary on the limitations of early forensic assessments and explained how preliminary conclusions can change with additional testing.

OVERALL IMPRESSION

"Inconvenient Silence" is a restrained but unsettling documentary that avoids sensationalism while raising legitimate questions about how and why this case was closed so quickly. The film does not accuse, but it clearly suggests that the official version may rely more on certainty than evidence.

IS IT WORTH WATCHING?

For viewers interested in investigative journalism and real-life mysteries, "Inconvenient Silence" offers a thoughtful look at how unanswered questions can fade when they are inconvenient. The documentary encourages viewers to consider whose voices are amplified—and whose are quietly left out.

Neighbors Question Official Version of Apartment Death

BY [AUTHOR NAME]

CITY NAME

As police continue to investigate the death of a man found in his apartment earlier this week, multiple residents of the building question parts of the official explanation offered by authorities.

Officers responded to a call for a welfare check at approximately 6:15 a.m. after the apartment manager reported not hearing from the resident since the previous evening.

Several neighbors reported hearing raised voices and movement late at night, around the time of the incident. One resident stated, "I heard voices and what sounded like an argument coming from his apartment just after midnight," while another described hearing footsteps in the hallway.

According to police officials, there were no signs of forced entry into the apartment, and investigators described finding the unit in an undisturbed condition. The victim, whose identity has not been released, was pronounced dead at the scene by emergency responders and not rising to the level of an emergency.

[MISSING SECTION]

In response, a police spokesperson reiterated that the investigation is ongoing and cautioned against jumping to conclusions until all information is gathered and verified.

"The case was closed before all relevant questions were explored."

“There is evidence of interaction with another person, but not enough investigation to understand its significance.”

“Someone was there, so the police must be hiding a crime.”

“Because witnesses heard voices, the death must be suspicious.”

“The police reports are false, so everything in them is unreliable.”

“The documentary proves that the police intentionally covered up a murder.”

“If this happened to your family member, you would never accept this explanation.”

“Authorities always protect themselves, never the truth.”

“Different interpretations depend more on how information is framed than on the information itself.”

*I remember the day I decided to leave.
There was no noise, no dramatic goodbye. Just silence and the feeling that my life had already changed before
I took the first step. Starting a new life is not heroic.
It is slow, heavy and full of doubts.*

At the beginning, you search the light without knowing what it looks like. You search it in maps, in. Countries you have never visited, in promises  made by by people who will never follow you. You search it the idea that somewhere else things must be different.

*When you arrive, you begin to find the light in small details.
A street that feels safe. A shop where no one stares. A voice that speaks slowly so you can understand. You start believing that this place might allow you to stay.*

Then reality teaches you patience.

You learn to wait. To sit in offices where your name is mispronounced. To hold documents that decide everything but he explain nothing. You learn that institutions do not see faces, only forms.

*Some days, you feel close enough to catch the light.
A stamp appears. A paper moves from one desk to another.
Someone tells you to come back tomorrow. You imagine, a future where you are allowed to stay instead of survive.*

Other days, you only see the light from a distance. Behind glass walls. Behind counters. Behind languages you don't speak but are expected to understand. The light is there.

I CAN READ.
THAT IS MY ONLY CRIME.
KNOWLEDGE IS NOT MAGIC.

thrice.
On the day of the Lord I lift the plow,

The King's secret is revealed only when eyes and mind work together.

First truth is hidden in plain sight, yet reveals itself only when rained upon.

Second wanders in the fields, counted by those who watch.

The last rests where the unseen scholar keeps her thoughts.

Gather the truths in the order the law intends, and the path will open.

The King's spies have hidden secrets throughout the hall.
Only the enchanted lens may reveal them.
Take this device – a gift of the alchemists – and let it read the marks unseen by the naked eye.
Scan the runes and symbols carefully;
each will whisper a clue, guiding you closer to the truth.

Well, well, well! What have we here?
A brave band of heroes, blindly trusting parchments, potions, and enchanted devices...
And yet, here you are, opening a chest full of nothing but my laughter!
Did you really think the King's secrets would fall into your hands so easily?
Take a bow, or a tumble – for today, the fool laughs last, and it is... me!

E6:

to the representatives of planet earth,

We are the ALIEN Accord, observers and mediators from the Kýrion system.

Your planet has entered a phase we classify as Critical Escalation.

Our records show recurring patterns:

unresolved conflicts, normalized violence, systemic harm, and refusal to listen.

On Kýrion-9, these patterns once ended our world.

We survived only by abandoning violence as a means of communication.

According to Interstellar Accord Protocol 7, planets that fail to demonstrate the capacity for peaceful conflict resolution are subject to containment or termination.

We have activated a planetary fail-safe device.

Time until activation T-45 minutes.

However,

You have been granted one opportunity to negotiate your continuation.

We have left you a Linguistic Interface Unit (LIU) device to communicate with us easily and assess whether your species is capable of:

- intelligence without domination
- cooperation under tension
- understanding perspectives beyond your own
- choosing dialogue over destruction

Scanning the glyphs under this message will let you access the LIU device.

All exchanges will occur through the Contact vault.

Failures will reduce your remaining time.

Demonstrated cooperation may extend it.

Consider this not a punishment
but an intervention.

The future of your planet depends on how you communicate.

Local communities report rising tensions over identity, resources, and differing values. Minor disagreements increasingly escalate into larger confrontations. Mediators describe a growing reluctance to listen to opposing viewpoints, with many residents convinced that forceful action is the only way to be heard.

"These conflicts rarely start large," said one mediator. "They grow because no one feels listened to."

VIOLENCE ESCALATES AFTER FAILED NEGOTIATIONS

After weeks of stalled talks, clashes erupted last night between opposing groups following the collapse of negotiations. Officials confirmed multiple injuries and property damage. Despite calls for dialogue, representatives from both sides blamed the other for "provocations" and stated that further talks are unlikely under current conditions. Security forces have increased their presence, while local residents report that tensions have become a normal part of daily life.

CHILDREN GROWING UP SURROUNDED BY CONFLICT

A new report shows that children in conflict-affected areas are increasingly exposed to violence through both direct experience and media consumption. Experts warn that repeated exposure can lead to desensitization, making aggressive behavior appear acceptable or inevitable. "Violence is no longer shocking," one researcher noted. "For many young people, it has become background noise."

POLITICAL DISPUTES TURN INCREASINGLY HOSTILE

Public debates between political rivals have grown more aggressive, with insults and threats replacing dialogue. Analysts observe that compromise is now often portrayed as weakness, while confrontation is rewarded with attention and support. Attempts to de-escalate rhetoric have largely failed, as polarized narratives continue to dominate public discourse.
